Singapore photographer scoops major awards

Singapore based photographer, Apple Chua has won a major photography international award.

Apple has won Fashion Category in the recent Far East Master Photographer of the Year Awards. The awards are run by The Master Photographers Association (MPA), Britain's most respected organisation for professional photographers.

MPA Chief executive, Colin Buck made his comment when he presented Apple Chua with her certificate: "It was a great honour to be presented with a Master Photographer award and Apple is a very worthy winner. The judges of the awards have very high standard so to win Apple had to demonstrate a really high level of photographic craftsmanship."

For further information on Apple Chua's photography, visit her website at www.applechua.com.
